AIRFIELD CONSTRUCTION

The priority of an airport is the safe transportation of its customers and a safe working environment for the staff that operate within it.

Working within a 'live' airport environment requires very specific skills. It requires a demanding level of performance driven by stringent timing and safety standards. It also requires the ability to liaise closely with key stakeholders ensuring no disruption to airport services, whilst guaranteeing the job is completed safely, on budget and on time.

At Akitu Aviation we have the proven skills required to consistently achieve the standards of airport environments. That's why we've been retained by Kirkuk int. airport, as a trusted and experienced landside and airside contractor for their airport developments. our service include, surfacing and runway repair, PQ concrete to apron, airside pit and duct, new taxiway/runway construction, and terminal building maintenance.
